Stephanie will discuss the history of the ADA, including the advocacy efforts that made this law possible. She will also discuss where we are now, compared to when the ADA was first signed into law in 1990. Stephanie will review threats to the ADA and the protections it offers to people with disabilities. While the ADA has made important strides, there is still more work to be done! Join us in learning how you can best exercise your rights under the ADA and how to advocate for the future!
